

Random Object Commercial

Instruct students to get into groups of two or three. Instruct the students that they will be given a random object and they must find an alternate use for it. For example, if the object is a pencil, they must find an alternate use for the pencil, like a dart or a mini baseball bat. Once they have figured out an alternate use, ask each group to come to the front to do a brief “commercial” to convince the crowd that they need this product. Each group should act out this commercial.

Discussion and Response (5 min)

- What was challenging about this activity?
- Each object that was used was created and designed for a specific purpose, but when you take that object and try to use for a different purpose, or what it was not intended to do or be, you either look funny or like you just don't know what you are talking about.
- In the same way, God created each and every one of you for a specific purpose. We are all called to love God and others, but our purpose is found in the unique way that God created and designed us.
