

GAME: HUMAN KNOT

Have students form groups of 10 – 12. Tell the students to make a circle. Then, tell the students to reach across and grab the hand of the person across from them. Do not let go of that person's hand. Then, tell the students to reach out and grab someone else's hand. Make sure that you have grabbed the hands of two different people. Now tell the students that they must untangle themselves without letting go of any hands. They must form a circle once more. If the students let go they must start over again. Many of the students will say that it is impossible and will want to give up. Encourage them that it is possible. They must go over, under and through to get themselves out.
